STUDENTS

Doorways to a broad education open to all students who seek knowledge. Being a senior has its privileges, but it also carries its responsibilities. Seniors should serve as an example to underclassmen, both academically and socially. It is the senior's duty to provide the Alma Mater with an impressive record of academic achievement and good conduct. Above all, seniors must meet the challenge of becoming members of the adult world.

Juniors meet their real test in being able to work together, since they spend almost every spare moment raising money and planning for the Junior-Senior Prom. In addition, the junior year is packed with academic requirements.

Sophomores have recovered from the "stepped-on" feeling they experienced in the freshman year. They have begun to realize they are living in a competitive world, filled with successes and failures. The trial period is over; they now belong.

Freshmen usually do not have a feeling of security since the change from junior high to high school is so great. Gradually the year passes, and with it many opportunities which will never be made available again.

Exam week cramming, athletic achievements, social events, warm friendships—high school memories are made of these. The seniors launched their school years by electing Dave Mohrman, Dave Rohn, Dan Welch, and Terry Steibritz to lead the freshman activities.

As sophomores we sold candy and our window cleaner to raise money. The year was marked by picking out our class rings and the first Mapleton Mountie football squad.

In our junior year, marked by many firsts, we received our class rings; presented "The Seventeenth Summer," our class play; and gave the graduating seniors their prom. This year also marked our first homecoming, with Linda Wesner as the junior attendant.

The arrival of the senior year and the approach of graduation heralded the climax of our lives at Mapleton. The representation of our class by the Homecoming Queen, Judy Runkle; our class play, "Thunder on Sycamore Street"; our prom and Baccalaureate followed in rapid succession. Plans for college educations or future jobs were made. Chuck Fryman, Denny Haas, Jan Jewell, Donna Bruce assumed leadership responsibility of the senior class. Jim Hawley led the student body as the Student Council President. Though scattered by graduation and never to be united again as a class, each of us retains favorite memories of our years at Mapleton.

Assuming the role of "Middlemen" we launched our junior year at Mapleton with our new class officers taking hold—Raymond Naylor, Bill Jackson, Gisela Babiak, and Becky Biddinger.

In addition to participating in various organizations and forms of athletics, we received our class rings; presented our class play, "January Thaw"; and hosted the upperclassmen at the traditional Junior-Senior Prom.

At homecoming in our sophomore year Peg Shultz attended the senior queen. When we were juniors, Gisela Babiak took the role of junior attendant.

Recalling our sophomore and freshman years we remember our selling project of dish cloths and towels and coat check.

We, the sophomores, having gained more confidence after our second year of high school, were well-represented in athletics, music and in various organizations. We were led by Roger Rohn, Jake Bowles, Pat Stentz, and Pam Smith.

We'd like to thank the junior class for giving us the coat check, from which we received a lot of money to pay for our expenses this year and in future years.

Our ring committee met in January to select 3 class rings to be voted upon; the winner was ordered the next day and we received our class rings in May.

During our last half of our high school career, the class of '68 will strive to become mature leaders that Mapleton will need in the future.

Linda—working on her dam project.

She got her man.

No longer rival Prexies or Flashes, we entered Mapleton, as freshmen, 107 strong, to unite as the class of 1969.

Dave Lechiara, Mike Imhoff, Linda DeLozier and Shirley Clouser emerged victorious in our class elections.

Beverly Moody was our attendant for the Homecoming ceremonies.

By participating in numerous and varied extra-curricular activities, we completed a worthwhile and enjoyable year, and look forward to continued success as individuals and as a class at Mapleton.

What ya lookin' at, group?

That's what I look like?

Why don't you ever let Clarence sing?

What's so fascinating?

ADMINISTRATION

The doorway to knowledge is brought to Mapleton students through the faculty and administration. The principal, Mr. Camp, is responsible for establishing a sound curriculum and for enforcing school policies. The teachers are responsible for the intellectual growth of the students they encounter daily in the classroom. Together, these administrators and faculty members form a bond which results in an effective school program.

"The aim of education should be to teach us rather how to think, than what to think – rather to improve our minds, so as to enable us to think for ourselves, than to load the memory with the thought of other men."

County Superintendent

Earl Weikel

Mr. Leatherman, Superintendent

A good administration and a cooperative faculty mold Mapleton High School into a single, well-functioning whole.

Mapleton's administration develops and approves policies in accordance with the school policy and the educational needs and wishes of the students. They also work diligently to enable the students to get the kind of education they need and want.

Mrs. Miracle

Mapleton High School's business department teaches students commercial skill in preparation for future vocations or as self-aids in private life. Courses taught include both personal and regular business typing, bookkeeping, general business, office practice, and business law. The completion of these subjects insures thorough training in the operation of business machines and a working knowledge of office practice.

Mrs. Nearhood

Miss Paxton

The foreign language department consists of Latin I and II and French I and II. These subjects are taught by Mrs. Nearhood. By using the language laboratory students can listen to tapes which provide them with the new method of studying a foreign language.

Mrs. Gerber

Mr. Reynolds

English, the most important subject of any student's curriculum, is virtually the only language with which students will communicate for the rest of their lives. The doors of higher education will be closed on the student who does not have a firm control of the English language. Mapleton's English department provides a sound basis for acquiring the fundamentals of grammar, good instruction in composition, and an excellent reading program.

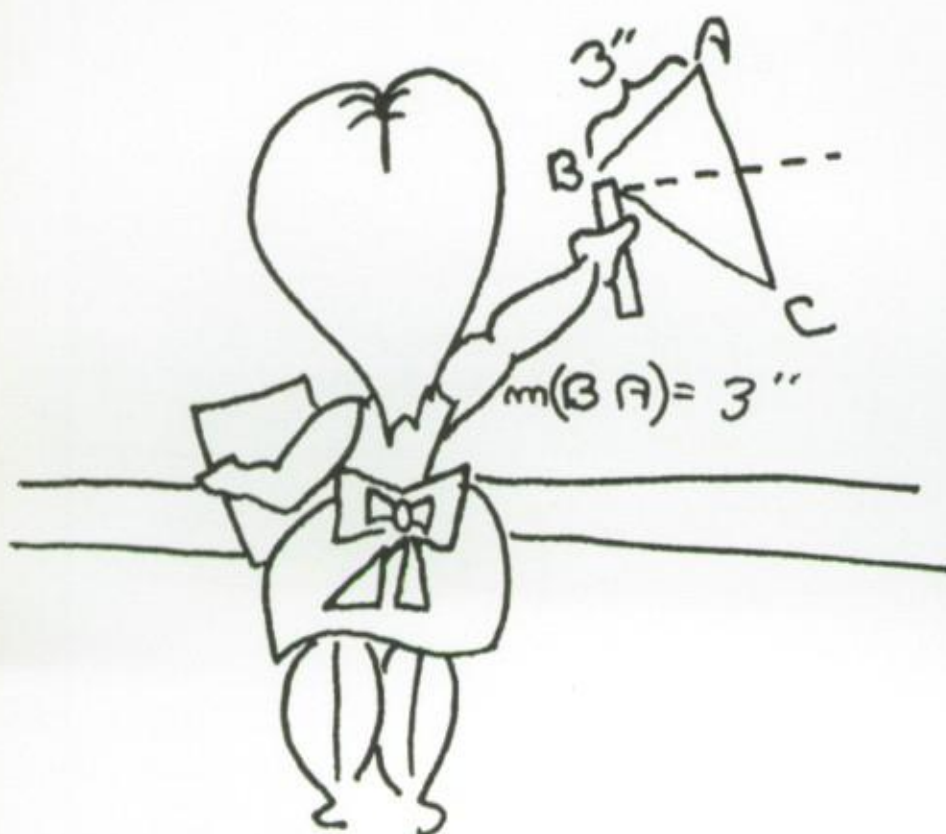

Mrs. Loyd

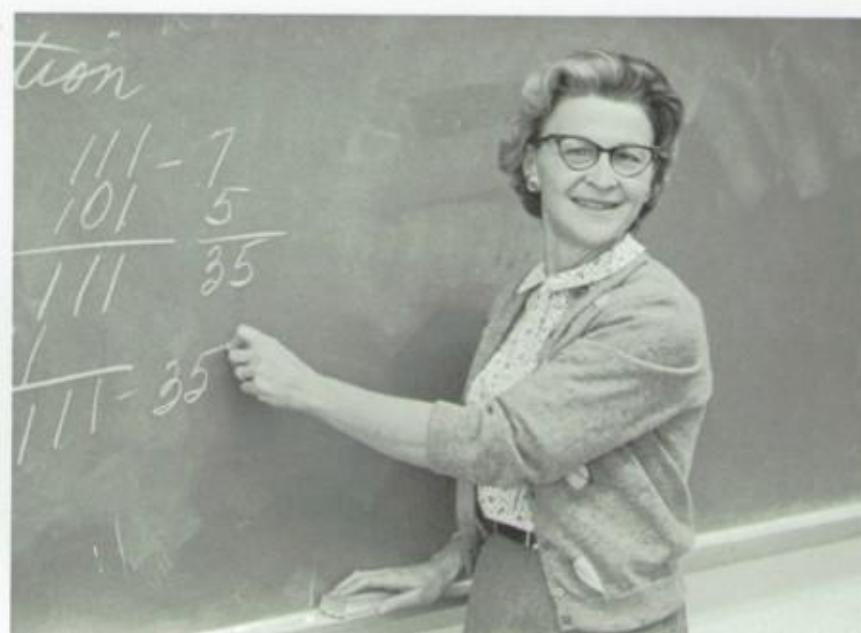

Mrs. Crumrine

The mathematics department at Mapleton is designed not only to provide students with a working knowledge of everyday arithmetic and give them a basis in logical reasoning, but also to supply advanced training in higher mathematical fields to the students wishing to enter the field of mathematics as a future vocation. Mapleton's students are well prepared in mathematics because they have learned to think for themselves.

Mr. Vaas

Mrs. Pfeiffer

Dedication and hard work are two qualities possessed by our band director. He led the band in marching, concerts and district and states contests. Through our instrumental director the band learned the joy of making music together.

Mapleton High's science department is keyed to our world of invention and discovery. General science, biology, chemistry and physics all teach Mapleton High School students basic knowledge about subjects ranging from protozoa to an airplane, and from plutonium to plankton. The courses are presented by lectures, film strip, and a wide range of scientific materials and equipment for experiments.

Mr. Crumrine

Mr. Brownson

Mr. Zickefoose

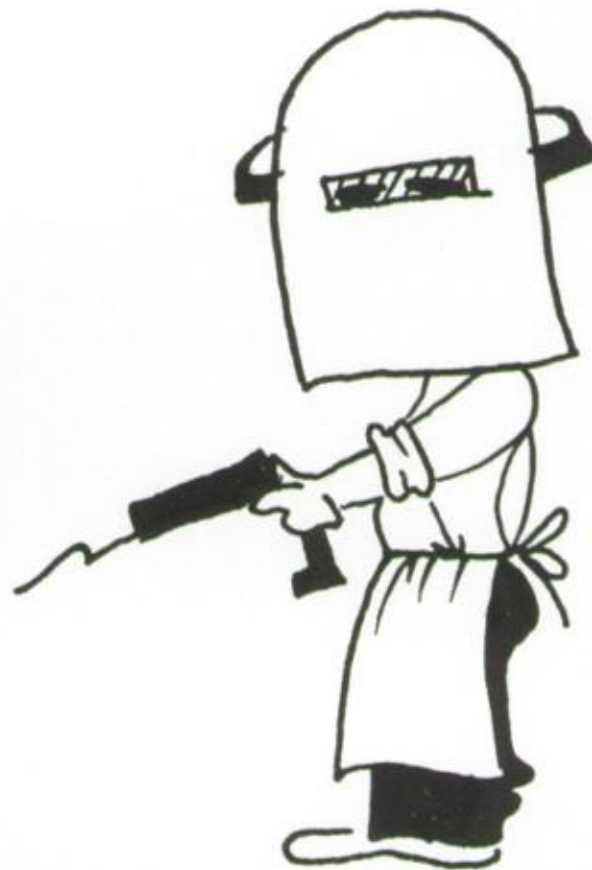

Teaching others to enjoy the beautiful sounds of singing by participating is the job of our vocal music director. He led the chorus in concert and contests. In addition to this, he directed the junior and senior class plays. His professional approach in these programs gave Mapleton audiences the type of entertainment they like to see.

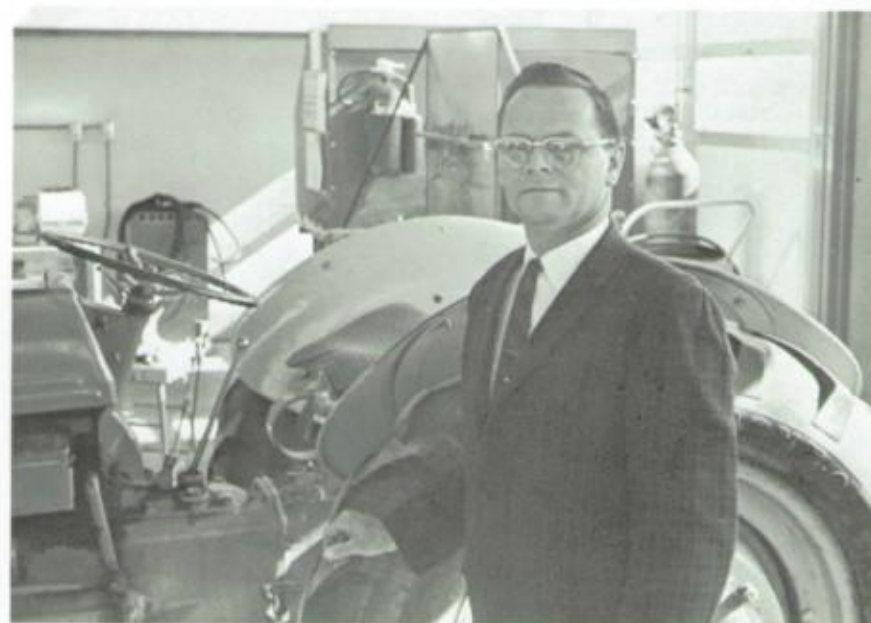

Mr. Butler

Mapleton offers both basic and specialized vocational training courses in home economics, agriculture, and industrial arts for students wishing to enter the vocational field. In industrial arts the students work with various tools and machines which help prepare them for a future in industry or some technical field. The courses in home economics give students the basic understanding for financing and managing a successful home. Vocational agriculture gives the student a good program which will enable him to become a successful farmer.

Mr. Welch

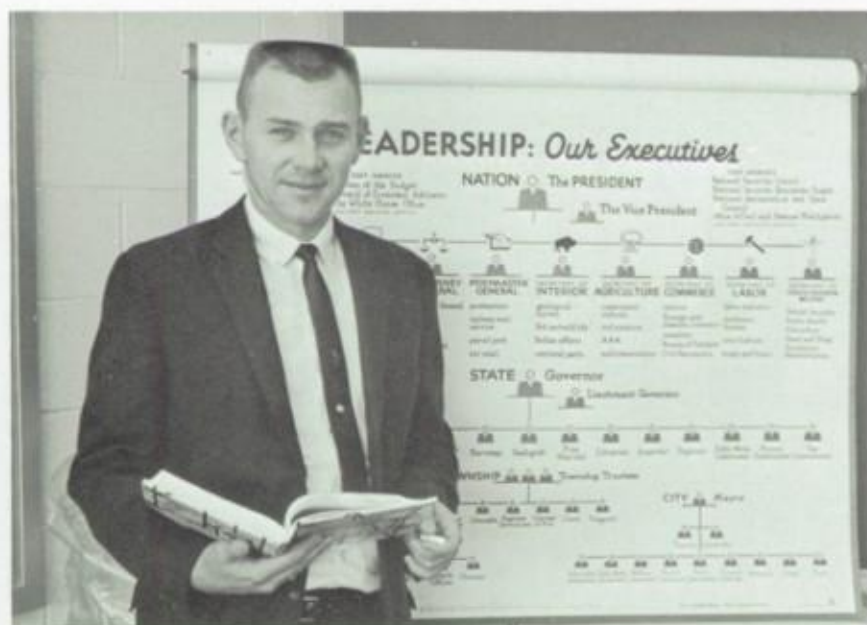

Mrs. Fuller

Mapleton High School's library can be called the center of the school's curriculum, since most students use the library for all the supplementary assignments given by teachers in all areas. The library is becoming better-equipped each year to handle the demands of the students.

Mrs. Fair

Mr. Boylan

Our social studies teachers have succeeded this year in teaching students facts about the past and present world. They have done this through American history, world history and American government. These courses help the students become better citizens and an asset to their country.

STUDENT LIFE

Another doorway opens to the memorable and varied activities at Mapleton High. In addition to the academic side, and the clubs Mapleton also offers a variety of activities. The 1966 activities included everything from Homecoming when Queen Judy was crowned to the "Battle of the Bands," presented by the Student Council. The activities which took place this year are all recalled in this section.

Homecoming Activities

Homecoming

The 1965-66 football season was climaxed by the crowning of Queen Judy Runkle.

Queen Judy was escorted and crowned by seniors Dave Mohrman and Dan Welch. She was attended by senior Anne Copeland, escorted by Kelly McQuate; junior Gisela Babiak, escorted by Fred Longsdorf; sophomore Ann Kemery, escorted by John Maiken; and freshman Beverly Moody, escorted by Dennie Biddinger added to the afternoon festivities. Jennifer Copeland carried the crown for the ceremony.

The band played a special tribute to Queen Judy by playing "Tenderly."

Later, at the dance, last year's queen, Jeanne Bradford, crowned Judy at a formal ceremony in the gymnasium.

ORGANIZATIONS

Mapleton's organizations open a doorway which gives students an opportunity to continue their education beyond the classroom. School-sponsored clubs and musical organizations teach willing members how to get along with others; they provide a healthy outlet for tensions and extra energy; they encourage hidden talents of leadership, scholarship and artistic or musical inclinations.

Mapleton's list of organizations is lengthy. Any Mapleton student can find an area that interests him if he is willing to let his interest be known. The result is a well-rounded personality, an asset to each who possesses it.

Mapleton High School's Student Council is a service organization dedicated to the task of improving the school and its many functions. Members of the council hold one of the most important and honored positions in the school for they are the voice of the student body.

This year the council sponsored the Homecoming elections and class officer elections. They also set up a suggestion box and selected a school banner. The assembly, composed of council members with Mrs. Loyd as advisor, secured many excellent assemblies.

To provide unity and cooperation of students and faculty, to develop the practice of good citizenship, to promote the general welfare and reputation of Mapleton High School is the organization's aim.

Officer's for the year are as follows:

President Jim Hawley

The fifty-one members of the Mapleton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America have accomplished many firsts during the 1965-66 school year.

A team composed of Tim Hickey, Fred Ropp, and Richard Steffen, received first place at the District 7 General Livestock Judging Contest. Tim Hickey took first place in the individual judging.

At the Ohio State Fair, Richard Thompson received the silver cup award in the Grand Champion Wheat Exhibit.

At the 1965 Ashland County Fair, four Mapleton F.F.A. members accomplished another first in the junior division. Grand Champion ratings were received by Ronald Weaver—Guernsey; Gary Wyler—Holstein; Ted Crow—Jersey; Dan McClafin—Ayrshire.

The club received a first place rating for the Chapter's treasurer's book of Kenneth Benner. A superior rating in the State Chapter Contest and silver rating in the chapter procedure contest were also awarded.

Dan McClafin, Ted Crow, and Homer Ayers composed the dairy judging team for District 7. Dan McClafin rated third in the district. The F.F.A. officers for 66-67 are:

During the 1965-66 school year, the Future Homemakers Club worked very hard on several projects. The club helped a needy family at Christmas by contributing to the County Project. This project was a big success.

For the national F.H.A. week, the club selected Ralph Snyder for the F.H.A. Dream Boy. For a final celebration of the week, the club held a weiner roast to honor Ralph.

In May, the organization held their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet, this year following an Italian theme.

Mary Copsey, Janet Cusato, Doris McClellan, and Linda Dull attended the State Convention in April. The convention was held at Veterans Memorial Building. The club received an "Award of Merit" for the year's work.

Student library assistants contribute much towards the smooth operation of the library. The Dewey Decimal organization is composed of each student who serves in the library during the school year. Monthly meetings are held, during which the club has a variety of programs such as work meetings and book reviews.

The library assistants spend an hour each day in the library, shelving books, working at the circulation desk, and helping students. For this effort, the student librarians are given $\frac{1}{4}$ credit each year.

Dewey Decimal officers are as follows.

The National Honor Society consisted of seven members when the year began. This group organized and during the school year journeyed to Ashland College to hear several outstanding speakers. These included a famous news commentator, a noted anthropologist, and a geologist.

Mrs. Loyd reviewed Herzog at the January meeting.

In March, the society presented an assembly, based on a courtroom trial, at which time eight new members were inducted into the club. These new members were selected on the basis, of scholarship, character, service, and leadership.

An informal initiation of the new members was held in April.

Latin Club

The main goal of the Latin Club is raising money for the planned European tour scheduled for the summer of 1967.

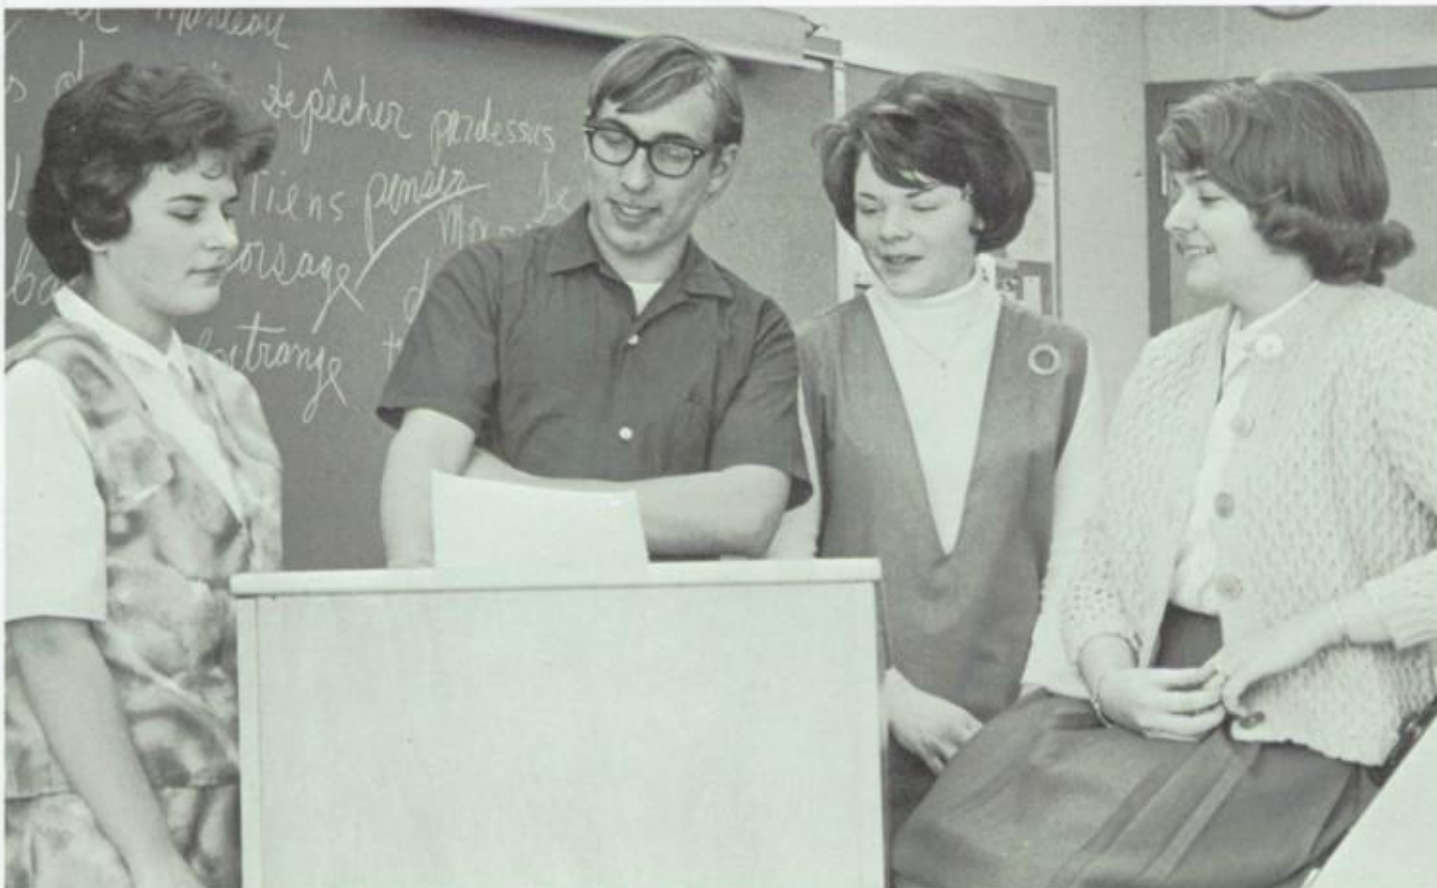

The club raised money by sponsoring bake sales and candy sales. Two full-course chicken dinners were held, the response being very good. More of these dinners are planned for next year. The Stanley and cosmetics parties were welcomed by the women of the school district. At the annual slave auction Latin II students bought the Latin I students and put them to work for a week. Next year the club plans to find more ways to secure money for the European tour.

Future Teachers

The Future Teachers of America worked individually on earning points toward a F.T.A. pin. The members earned their points by doing bulletin boards, showcases, grading papers, teaching classes, and assisting teachers in every day chores. 20 points are required for a pin.

During the first part of the school year, pens were sold to help raise money for the club.

Future Nurses

The Future Nurses Club is made up of a group of girls planning a career in nursing.

The club took a trip to Mansfield General Hospital on their career day in November and later in the school year they again traveled to Mansfield to tour the Mansfield General Hospital School of Nursing.

In the spring Janet Scott, Regina Funk and Linda McClellan, 1965 Mapleton graduates, told of their experiences at nursing school.

Art Club

The year's activities for the Art Club consisted mostly of painting on an individual basis.

At Christmas, the members painted the windows in the front hall with tempera paints. Lovely Christmas pictures added much atmosphere to the school.

The club helped with the homecoming decorations and made posters for different clubs to advertise their events. They designed a variety of school banners which were presented before the student body from which one was chosen at election time.

The Ushers Club was a new club this year started by Mr. Zickefoose. Qualification for membership was to uphold a C average. Ushering duties were performed for the teacher's convention in Ashland, assemblies, band concerts, chorus musicals, and class plays. By wearing a special uniform of red blazers, white blouses, navy blue skirts, and matching ties, their neat appearance was always an asset to the school.

SPORTS

The modern school is concerned not only with the intellectual growth of the student, but his physical development also. Doorways open in the form of athletic programs designed to reach every student interested in sports. Great personal rewards are received in the realization of having been part of a school supported team.

No school program would be complete without its share of athletics.

Football Facts

Hampered by lack of size, experience and speed, the Mapleton Mounties finished their second full season of football with a 1-8 record under the coaching of Jim Reynolds. The lone victory came in a bitterly-contested game over a conference foe, Black River with a score of 18-12.

The season could have been much brighter with a few breaks and more consistent play. Victory was at hand in the Monroeville and Milan games only to be snatched away by penalties. Berlin Heights, league champions, managed to thwart the Mounties on a bitter struggle with a score of 18-0.

The season scoring went as follows: Touchdowns: T. Hickey-5, D. Welch-2, Cusato-1, Stuart-1, S. Kline-1, Moose-1. Points after touchdowns: Cusato-2, and S. Lechiara-2. Top scorers. T. Hickey-30, D. Welch-12, and Cusato-10.

In the punting department Moose had 44 punts and an average of 41.8 yards. Ivan Welch punted 3 times and averaged 34 yards.

Tim Hickey carried the pigskin 98 times for a total of 384 yards gained. He was followed by Dan Welch who carried the ball 88 times for 30 yards gained, Cusato with 94 carries and 264 yards and Sam Kline had 49 carries for 179 yards. On the defense squad Dave Mohrman averaged 18 tackles per game.

In the passing field Jim Stuart completed 32 of 89 attempts for 511 yards gained.

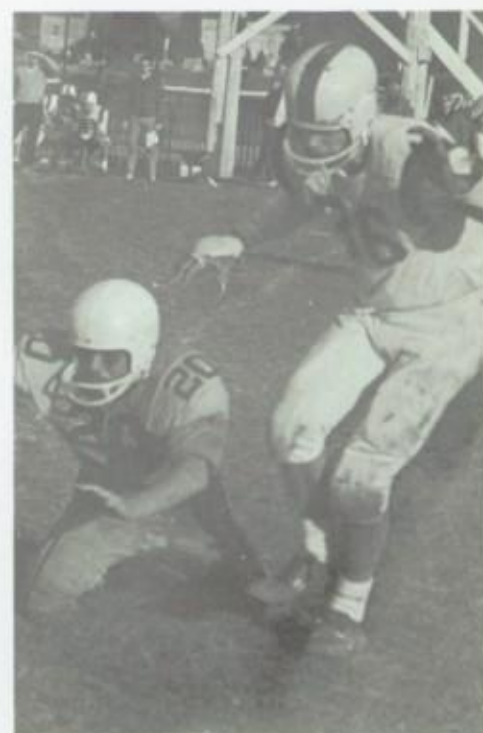

The pass receiving for the year was as follows: D. Welch-6 passes, 129 yards; R. Oblisk-8 passes, 117 yards; S. Lechiara-8 passes, 114 yards; and S. Kline-3 passes, 40 yards.

Although the team will certainly miss the seven seniors graduating, with fifteen letterman returning, next year could be a banner year if every Mountie gets his man.

Coach Boylan and Mapleton's Mounties came through with a respectable record in the 1965-1966 basketball season. Led by Captain Bill Iceman, the team compiled an over-all record of 8-10 and a Firelands Conference record of 4-6.

In tournament play the Mounties almost slipped past the Northwestern Huskies, but a second half rally pulled the Huskies ahead and ended the game with 49 points while Mapleton racked up 35.

Because of their valuable assistance to the Mapleton Mounties, Fred Longsdorf and Jim Stuart earned berths on the All-Star team.

Lonnie Atchison coached the freshman team to a 3-12 season, when they lost the tournament invitational to Sandusky Perkins by a score of 41-55.

The freshman boys played mainly for experience, working hard at learning the basic fundamentals of high school basketball for use in coming seasons.

Statisticians

M. Murtaugh, Scorekeeper, P. Smith, B. Hummel, J. Beebe, J. Brockway.

Statisticians traveled with the basketball team, keeping records for freshmen, reserve and varsity games. Their work consisted of keeping the shots attempted and made for both teams; also, the free throws attempted and made. At the end of the year they figured up the yearly averages which helped determine who received varsity letters.

Credit should also be given to the managers of all the teams, who worked tirelessly keeping the equipment in order.

Managers

D. Lechiara, B. Wiser, D. Bowerize.

Mapleton High School baseball team experienced a rugged season winning four out of twelve games in regular season play and two out of six games in conference play. Despite the record the team played exciting ball and several games could have easily gone the other way.

Dan Moose had three home runs for the season and had eleven runs batted in. Dan Welch was the best hitter with a batting average of .410.

Other batting highs were Bob Frazier with .309 and Bill Iceman with .298. Dan was also noted the most valuable player by his teammates and Bill won the best defensive ball player award.

Tom Cline led the pitching staff with a 3-3 record. The other pitchers were Steve Lechiara and Dan Welch.

Track Greats

Completing the first season in Mapleton track history, Mountie thinclads raced to eleven new school records and a 6-0 dual meet ledger. Prepping for the Firelands Conference meet, the Mountie harriers finished second in the Ashland Relays to win the first trophy in Mapleton's history. Injuries to key personnel, however, slowed the Mountie juggernaut and they finished third in the Firelands Conference meet.

With an abundance of lettermen returning in '67 Coach Reynolds looks forward to another great season.

MUSIC

A doorway to relaxation and enjoyment opens through Mapleton's music department. Mapleton takes great pride in both its vocal and instrumental music. Those who have participated actively and cooperatively in music can appreciate the saying, "Music washeth away the dust of everyday life."

The 66 piece concert band, under the direction of David C. Vaas, presented concerts at Christmas and in the spring. They also participated in the All-County Musical with Hillsdale. The band entered the District Contest competition at Ontario High School, where they received a superior rating. In the State contest they received a good rating.

The band had an exchange program with Black River High School in May. These annual exchange band programs are enjoyed by Mapleton students.

Mr. Homer Bowers, a student teacher from Ashland College, directed a number at the spring band concert.

Girls' Ensemble

The Mapleton Chorus, under the direction of Russell Zickefoose, traveled to Ontario High School to compete in the district competition, where they received an excellent rating.

The chorus presented a concert for Christmas and participated in the all-county musical with Hillsdale, which was held at Mapleton.

For the spring concert, the chorus presented a new look in concerts by presenting "Showboat." The program included songs of the South, a special performer, Mr. Norman Baldwin, the renowned banjo playing artist, and dancer Mike Beech.

Four blasts of the whistle, a roll of drums and another half-time show began as the Mapleton Marching Band stepped on to the field. The band featured shows depicting the various seasons of the year, sports, TV characters, and a famous style show.

Under the direction of David C. Vaas, the band attended all home and away games and gave much needed support to the Mountie football squad.

Pep Band

The pep band, led by Keith Rohrbach, entertained the crowds at the home basketball games this season. They added to the crowds' enthusiasm during halftime. They also played for all the pep rallies. They will long be remembered for their Lemon-Peel Twist and "Charge."

ADVERTISEMENTS

The entire Mapleton community has on many occasions showed its interest and support of the school's programs.
This interest has again been displayed by the patrons of the 1966 Chevalier.

The yearbook staff wishes to take this opportunity to thank all patrons for their support for without it this annual would not be possible.
